Kanan Dhru

Kanan Dhru is the Founder of Research Foundation for Governance in India, a think-tank working towards legal and political reforms.

She feels passionately about making a difference in the legal and political systems of India.

Through her dynamic young think-tank Research Foundation for Governance in India (RFGI), she has been contributing towards bringing more transparency, accountability and youth participation within the Indian governance processes.

Apart from working at RFGI, she teaches ethics in business schools and is a lawyer, a writer, an avid mountaineer and a tennis-enthusiast having great interest in different cultures and identities.

Hina Shah

Hina Shah dares to be different. A home maker, a classical dancer, an entrepreneur, a painter, an academican and the director of ICECD, she is perfectly comfortable in each role.

In a man's world, she created a niche for herself with path breaking innovative ideas as successful entrepreneur in the field of plastic packaging.

With a belief that economic empowerment is the tool for overall empowerment of women she transformed her vision into an initiative "International Centre for Entrepreneurship and Career Development (ICECD).

By now, ICECD has reached out to +1,00,000 women directly and +1150 organizations in India, who have in turn trained +5,00,000 women.

Hina institutionalized Women Economic Empowerment strategy in over 60 countries of Asia, Africa, Pacific and Caribbean, and lately, USA reaching out to develop over a million women to become entrepreneurs!

Sabbah Haji

Four years after she quit the comfort of her content-writing job in Bangalore, she's in the thick of an incredible transformation. 30-year-old Sabbah Haji moved back to her ancestral village Breswana, in the Doda district of Jammu and Kashmir, in 2008, to set up and run a quality school with her family. The Haji Public School caters to children in a remote Pahari region. It has now grown to Class 5, with one class going up each year, and the aim is to take the school all the way up to Class 12.

Haji lives in the village the year round and pulls in assistance and teaching resources/volunteers by extensively using social media.

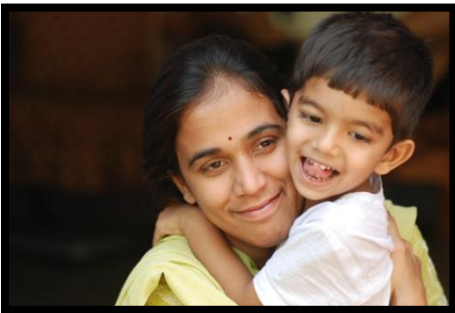

The entire Haji family funds and operates the school in different capacities.

Sakshi Kumar

Sakshi Kumar is a 23 yr old Journalism post graduate student who has dedicated herself to social activism through 2 issues that are closest to her heart - women rights and child education. She is Founder of Justice for Women (online volunteer-based initiative) & co-founder of Gubbare (classroom education for underprivileged kids).

Dr. Anagha Amte

Born and brought up in Goa, Anagha chose a different path and married Late Baba Amte's doctor grandson. She works as a medical officer at Maharogi Sewa Samiti's Lok Biradari Prakalp Hospital since 2003.

Providing composite health care to the remotely situated Madia –gond tribals. She is the only gynecologist in the 60 km radius, treating around 40,000 tribal patients from 1500 tribal villages from Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh and Chhattisgarh.

Apart from being a gynecologist by education, Anagha also work as sonologist, neonatologist and a general physician.

She also imparts community health care education to the tribal's and is a nature lover and loves trekking

Sindhutai Sapkal (Special Recognition Award)

Sindhutai Sapkal was born on 14 November 1948 at Wardha in Maharashtra. She could attend school only until 4th grade, attended part-time due to other family responsibilities. She was brought up in abject poverty. Sindhutai has devoted her entire life for orphans. She has nurtured over 1050 orphaned children. As of today, she has a grand family of 207 son-in-laws, 36 daughter-in-laws and over 1000 grandchildren. Still she continues to fight for the next meal. Many of the children whom she adopted are well-educated lawyers and doctors, and some, including her biological daughter, are running their own independent orphanages. One of her children is doing a Ph.D. on her life. She has been honored with over 272 awards for her dedication and work including 2010 - Ahilyabai Holkar Award, given by the Maharashtra State Government to social workers in the field of woman and child welfare. She used all that money to buy land to make a home for her orphan children.
